Congratulations !

Upon the medieval town of Regensburg being listed as a World Heritage Site, association chairman Horst Wadehn declared:

"The German Unesco World Heritage Sites association is pleased that this city on the river Danube now ranges on a level with the ancient townscapes of Lübeck, Wismar, Stralsund, Quedlinburg, Goslar, Weimar, and Bamberg. Regensburg old town is an outstanding example of a medi-eval merchant town, with its soaring St. Peter's cathedral and its Stone Bridge. We are happy that the longtime endeavours have paid off, and we congratulate mayor Hans Schaidinger on his excellent application."
